

I want candy!

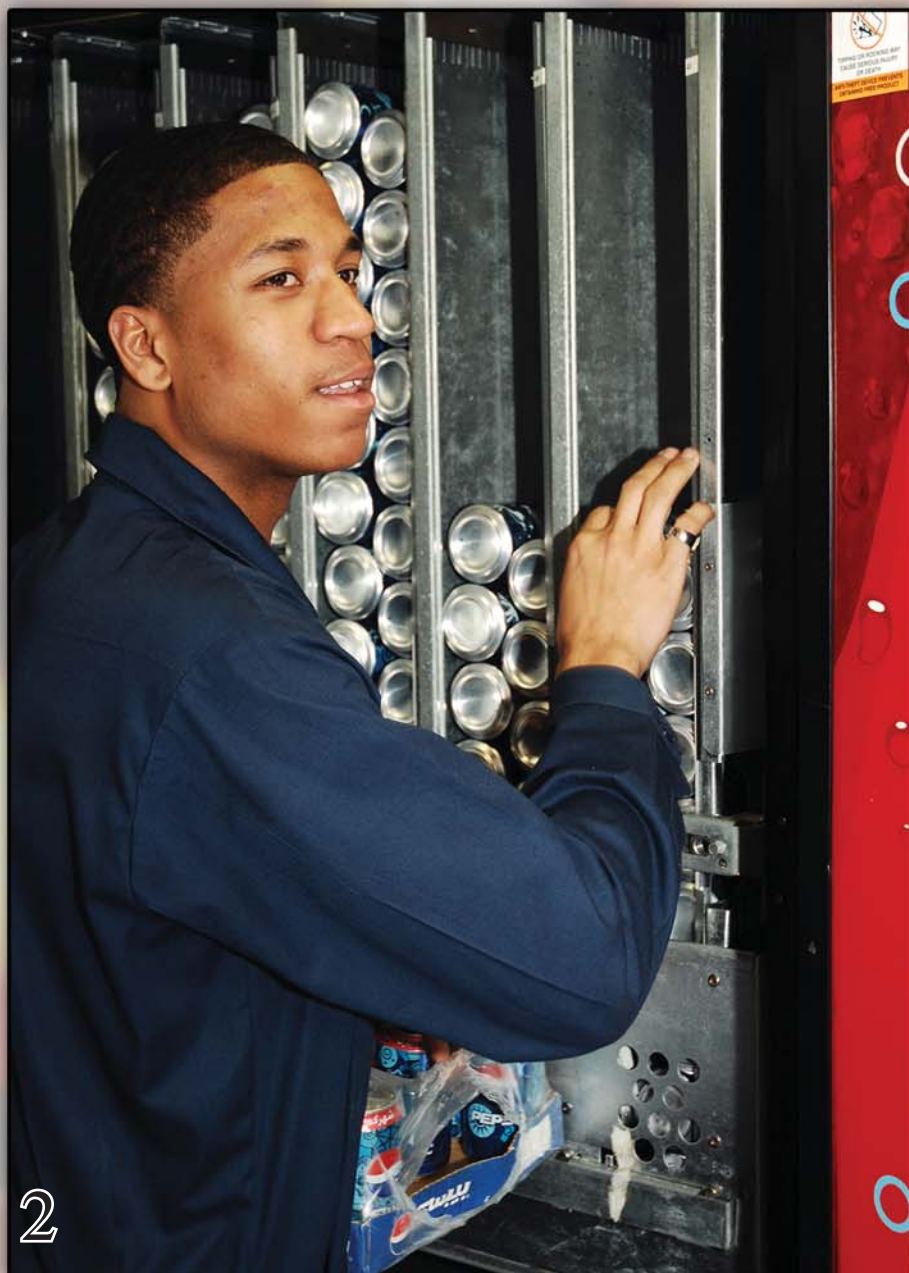

1

Sailors of USS Theodore Roosevelt's (CVN 71) Supply Department play an integral role in not only the well-being of the crew, but also their morale. By providing and maintaining vending machines in various places throughout the ship, these shipmates ensure that TR Sailors have quick and convenient access to in-between meal snacks throughout the day. Not only does this provide a morale-boosting service, but a portion of proceeds earned from sales are given to Morale, Welfare and Recreation (MWR) to be recycled and spent on various morale-boosting activities while on deployment.

4

2

Photos by MC3 Joey Morgon

- 1.) Ship's Serviceman Seaman Apprentice Jordan Norvell stocks a vending machine with soda during a re-supplying evolution.
- 2.) Ship's Serviceman Seaman Quintez Canon pauses while stocking a vending machine to ask his supervisors what the next step is in their evolution.
- 3.) Ship's Serviceman Seaman Andre Mead checks a vending machine to see which snacks need to be re-stocked.
- 4.) A Sailor removes his Navy Cash Card after purchasing a beverage from a vending machine.
- 5.) Aviation Boatswain's Mate (Fuel) Airman Stephine Craven buys some snacks from a vending machine after the re-supplying evolution was completed.

3

5

